

Sunday World-Herald

OCTOBER 24, 2010  SUNRISE EDITION

Kim Hodges, left, the owner of Pump It Up in Omaha, collected more than 200 coats at her recent coat and nonperishable food drive for the Siena-Francis House, a homeless shelter. Pump It Up employee Megan Snodgrass is at right.

GOOD DEEDS

Pumping out coats: Kim Hodges, the owner of Pump It Up in Omaha, collected more than 200 coats plus nonperishable food items during the company's recent two-year anniversary party. The collected items will benefit the Siena-Francis homeless shelter.